

Register for Multiple Auction Tickets

This article will explain what you might expect to see when registering for multiple auction tickets on the web or in the Givi mobile app.

Registering on the Web

When you register for an auction on the web, you may have the option to add multiple packages to your registration, or you might be given the opportunity to purchase a package that includes multiple tickets, such as a Table Sponsorship.

If you choose either of these options, you'll be able to assign your additional tickets to guests at the time of purchase by filling in your guests' email addresses under Guest Information.

Cell Phone Number

Use the phone number for the device you'll be using to bid. At the event, we'll send you a text message with some helpful information about bidding!

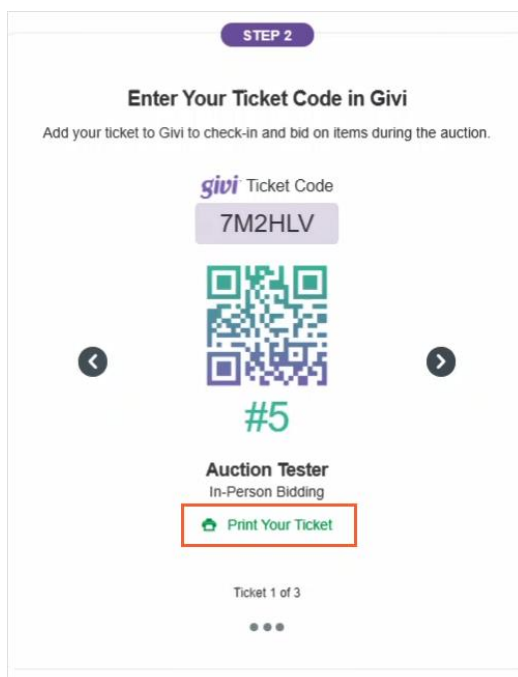

If you aren't sure who you want to invite yet, you can leave guest information blank and manage your tickets later.

When you've finished registering, you'll see the same confirmation page you would see for a single ticket purchase, but you can click the arrows to see all of your ticket codes.

Tickets you assigned during registration will appear with the guest's name and a "Ticket Sent" badge. Unassigned tickets will simply say "Participant," instead of a guest's name.

You can also click Print Your Ticket to generate a printable PDF of all your tickets. Each ticket has a unique code, which you and your guests will use to enter the auction and bid on items.

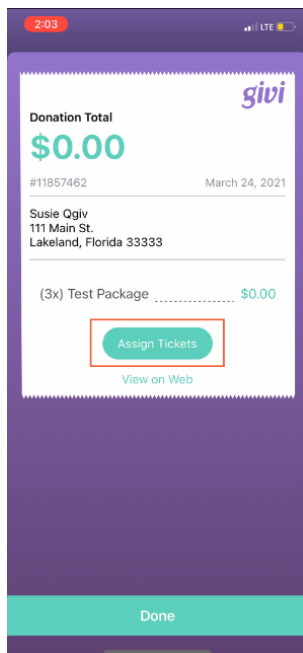

Registering on Givi

Registering for multiple tickets on Givi is like registering for multiple tickets on the web, but the interface will look a bit different.

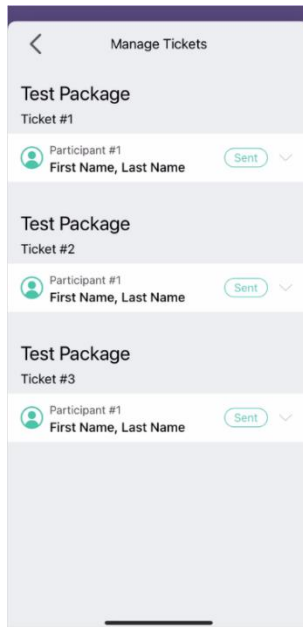

After tapping the number next to the package you want to purchase, scroll to select the number of tickets you want.

When your purchase is complete, you'll see a receipt screen and a link to Assign Tickets in the app.

Tapping Assign Tickets will take you to the Manage Tickets screen in Givi. Here, you'll be able to add your guests' email addresses and send their tickets to them.

You can access this screen later from the Activity tab on the Givi home screen.
